Welcome to NAWC SET 3 REBORN.

Much has changed since set 2. Firstly Azrael leader of The Inquisition has lost a Loser Leaves Town match to hated rival Xaphan and is now banned from the NAWC. To take his place the original Knight Templar Joshua Essex has returned as manager and brought with him the newest member of the Inquisition Angelo Cortez he has also made Mathew Soltari a full member that culminated in his initiation being shown on NAWC TV. Keth Vale then left The Inquisition after months of torments from unknown sources which led him to believe Jason Kenmore was behind the mind games. Also the Manta vs. Sekada/Belroc war has escalated with Manta now teaming with Ciber Naught, Assassin X and Tera Naught while Sekada and Belroc have hired Hangman to fight his former allies in Ciber and A-X. Next Ryuujin adds to his Council Of Wyrms by turning Raal into Ketsueki Ryuuko the Blood Dragon. The NAWC finally started their Women's division as two hated rivals Blood Rose and Pandora join Viper Vixson in the growing division. Speaking of Blood Rose and Pandora their respective allies Bloodstorm and Warlock Danny Sage continue their feud with Bloodstorm again gaining an upper hand by bringing in another vampire named Tzimisce. So now let's sit back and find out about the new players in the NAWC.

Warlock Danny Sage

5'9" 213lbs

Neo-Tokyo, Japan

Special Moves - Neutral Bomb (power bomb into corner turnbuckle)

Spinning Black Circle (spinning torture rack dropped into a sit-out powerbomb)

Vampire Killer (spinning heart punch)

Sage Driver (Death Valley Driver)

Warlock Special (Tiger Driver)

FINISHER - SAGEMISSION (Kati Haja Mai)

Danny grew up in Japan where his father was a wealthy businessman. He yearned to become a professional wrestler after becoming hooked to the fast paced Japanese lightweight wrestling. Danny was trained by some of the best Japanese lightweights money could buy. At the same time he began studying magic in the hopes of gaining an edge in the ring. But after becoming adept at both professions he learned a great respect for both magic's inherent balance to all things as well as the great athleticism it takes to become a great wrestler. So in one aspect he has used his magical beliefs to balance both his mental and physical state to become the best wrestler he can be. Soon after his indoctrination into the NAWC, Danny targeted Bloodstorm and Blood Rose who he views as unnatural creatures who must be eliminated to restore the balance. Danny lost more than his share of matches in this war as Bloodstorm and his Vampire Nation outnumbered him. But Danny has recently brought in fellow practitioner of the arts Pandora to help neutralize Blood Rose during his current feud with Bloodstorm. Danny and Pandora seemed to be gaining ground until Tzimisce was brought in and now the tide has turned back in Bloodstorm's favor. Will Danny be able to find someone to counter Tzimisce or will the Vampire Nation stop him and Pandora?

Pandora

5'5" 126lbs

Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada

Special Move - Coven Cradle (cradle piledriver)

HERA'S CURSE (folding powerbomb)

Pandora who comes from Canada has traveled the world since she was 17 trying to learn all she could about magic and the mystical arts. While she was in the town of Solca in Romania she came across a very ancient text about a vampire that lived somewhere in the nearby mountains. She used a magical spell she had learned to open the book but the pages were blank. Soon thereafter the surrounding towns were victimized by what the locals were calling vampire attacks as the victims were drained of blood and two puncture holes were found near the jugular of the necks. The superstitious town folk ran Pandora out of town claiming she had awakened some ancient vampire when she opened the ancient text she had found. She escaped with the book and made her way to Japan to talk with a powerful mystic about the book. When she arrived the mystic's disciple Danny met her. The two became quick friends and though the mystic could not help her she became enamored with Danny's love of both the magical arts and professional wrestling. Pandora then joined Danny at his wrestling dojo and began training with him, but before she was done with her training Danny was deemed ready and sent to the NAWC to begin his career. Finally with her training done she has joined Danny in the NAWC but she has changed since the last time they met. She seems more interested in Blood Rose and the Brood she runs with and less enamored with Danny though she remains fiercely loyal to him. She fights Blood Rose with a fury Danny had never seen in her and when Danny asks why she doesn't say anything but all vampires must be destroyed. What many question is if this hatred will lead her to doing something unthinkable or can she keep her hatred in check? Only time will tell.

Chouuju

6'4" 280lbs

The Deep Lands, Alaara

Special Moves - Chouuju Stomp (double foot stomp jumping from top rope)

Flying Fur (Frog Splash)

FINISHER - SUPER BEAST BOMB (top rope powerbomb)

Chouuju and his people lived in the vast jungles of Alaara. It was there that Chouuju's future was chosen for him as former GWF and current CPC wrestler Terak went searching for the elusive race that was long thought extinct. After months of scouring The Deep Lands, Terak finally captured his prey. Terak then brought the beast out of the jungles into civilized society and brought him to his temporary zoo on Planet Colby. Terak then named the beast Chouuju that means Super Beast and unveiled him to the galaxy at large as his greatest find. But when Chouuju finally recovered from his initial shock at being torn from his natural environment, Terak and everyone flocking to see his latest find found out that Chouuju was an evolved creature with an ancient language and civilization that has been around for eons hiding in secrecy for their fear of the outside world. Terak tried to calm Chouuju down but he would not be held in captivity any longer, as he broke free from the zoo and found a man willing to help him escape who went by the name of Orphen. Orphen turns out to be the miss-begotten son of Terak. On the space flight back to Alaara Orphen and Chouuju became friends and their hatred for Terak only grew. Orphen then told Chouuju he had the perfect way to get back at Terak, become a pro wrestler! Chouuju who was an experienced hunter was excited about actually getting his hands on Terak. Orphen then brought Chouuju to Adam Smasher and along with some other students were taught the finer points of wrestling as well as an even greater hatred for Terak and the Savage Kingdom team he leads. Now as training has finished Chouuju has entered the NAWC for some fine-tuning to his repertoire before he goes after Terak. Chouuju has also recently aligned himself with Viper Vixson, who he sees as a kindred soul.

The Purifier Angelo Cortez

6'3" 250lbs

Madrid, Spain

Special Moves - Holy Thunder (side body slam piledriver)

Holy Hammer (double arm sledgehammer)

Crusader Bomb (Canadian back rack powerbomb)

FINISHER - PURIFY THE WICKED (inverted Death Valley Brain Buster)

The next in a long line of religious zealots to grace the NAWC is Angelo Cortez. He is the successor to Azrael after his untimely expulsion from the NAWC in a Loser Leaves Town Match. The original Knights Templar, Joshua "Exodus" Essex and Cathedral as well as Azrael trained Angelo. Angelo has been brought in a bit before he was ready but due to Azrael's loss and now the expulsion of Keth Vale he is needed all the more. Angelo is deeply religious and reminds many people of a young Azrael before he was turned into a desperate man who needed to fight fire with fire against his enemies. His past is guarded by his superiors and some wonder why this would be so if he's such a pious young man. Whatever the case is he's been taught by some of the best and he has exceeded their expectations of him. He is a shot in the arm for the Inquisition who seems to be taking a lot of losses as of late. His future seems bright but will he be able to measure up to the Unholy in this war, or will he fall by the wayside like so many of his brethren before him.

Holy Knight Mathew Soltari

6'3" 245lbs

Home: Tucumcari, New Mexico USA (Now residing in Vatican City, Italy)

Special Move - Knight's Conviction (a middle rope Exploder Suplex)

FINISHERS - UNCORRUPTED FAITH (Oriental Spike hold)

THROUGH THE LIGHT FIND SALVATION (Tornado Pedigree Piledriver)

Mathew Soltari a rising star in NAWC took the long road to the upper card and his current tag team with Jason Kenmore.

Mathew's father was the town priest in the small New Mexico town his family called home. He comes from a long line of priests who trace their bloodline through a Heathen Judge during The Spanish Inquisition. Mathew was set to follow in his father's footsteps and indeed he was more than suited for it. He is a man of piety and is truly just. But there was one character flaw that changed his life and his path. He wanted to truly spread the word. He felt it was his divine mission to spread the teaching throughout the universe and in as big a way as possible. So he said goodbye to the sands and started his travels.

The randomness of his world travels took Soltari to all the old lands, Greece, Italy, Ireland among the many he saw. He had been a young man of 18 when he left home, now at the age of 22 he sat at a church in London his hair grown long, his beard coarse, he sat and reflected on the point of his journey. The word still wasn't spread he needed to reach the masses. He reflected "How can one reach the masses their only interested in entertainment and sin."

Becoming part of the entertainment that's how. He decided to go with the widely popular and wide spread sport of wrestling. He was trained in the AWF's training school, The Phoenix Pit, and was the prized student of Torin Caelum. Instead of going to the AWF as a future star he traveled through the small feds gaining experience and improving his style. He was largely forgotten until showing up in the NAWC and joining The Inquisition. He fit in perfectly with the group and in time became an official member of their ranks.

He remains a man of conviction bringing that same focus and sternness to the ring. Now he's found his place in wrestling and continues to move up. After all it is God's plan, and who is he, a humble servant, to question the all-mighty.

Ketsueki Ryuuko the Blood Dragon

5'10" 228lbs

Parts Unknown

Special Moves - Dragon's Claw (claw hold on face lifted and dropped into claw slam)

Dragon Kick (top rope jump side kick)

FINISHERS - YEAR OF THE WYRM (arm bar submission where Ketsueki tries to break his opponents arm – when move is rolled you can elect to have him try and break the opponents arm roll 2d6 if 2 or 12 is rolled roll 2d6 again for severity of injury)

SUPER DRAGON DRIVER (top rope Fisherman's Buster)

The man formally known as Raal has been reborn as Ketsueki Ryuuko the Blood Dragon. Ryuujin took personal care in the transformation of Raal as he personally helped train Ketsueki into the fighter and man he has become. Ketsueki who at one time was a member of the Horsemen of the Apocalypse he had never lived up to expectations, and when the leader of the Horsemen failed to materialize Raal left Man-O-War and the other horsemen to go his own way. He drifted from fed to fed but finally returned to the NAWC and soon made an alliance with Ryuujin who saw in Raal an untapped potential that could help the Council of Wyrms gain the stature that was meant for gods. First Ryuujin had Raal team with Dragonstar so as to give him the chance to team with an established star and to learn the ropes without having all the expectations heaped on him like what happens to singles competitors. Then when Dragonstar taught Raal all he could, Ryuujin took Raal and sent him to his private dojo to learn from Ryuujin's masters who were supposedly descended from true dragon blood. Raal after his training was then put through a special ceremony that infuses dragons blood into the participant. When Raal returned he was a new man, infused with the blood of dragons and taught by masters of unarmed combat Raal took his place as the right hand man of Ryuujin. Ketsueki is now primed to be the main attack man for the Council of Wyrms and he will do anything to make sure the prophecy of the dragon comes true.

Keth Vale

6'2" 265lbs

West Babylon, New York

Special Moves - Shining Wizard (jumping knee to opponents head)

Gravedigger (double underhook piledriver)

FINISHER - DARK REDEMPTION (full nelson done with legs) * If dq'd Keth leaves the move on and opponent rolls one die for injury length*

Keth Vale has been driven to the point of insanity and he has walked the line between saint and sinner and the sinner has won out. The man once known as Gravedigger, the destroyer of many an aspiring wrestlers career has been revealed as Keth Vale by his former best friend and his worst enemy Johnny B. Johnny and the Stargazers spent months torturing Keth making him hear things when no one was around, making him see things when nothing was there and telling him his past would be revealed to his brethren in The Inquisition. Keth who after all this time still could not forgive himself for his past deeds and he feared he would be expelled from his new home in The Inquisition. So he tried to find the people responsible for his dilemma but all he found was dead ends. Then the signs started pointing to his fellow Inquisition members, could they be testing him, seeing if he had truly given up his past life and repent? But times were tough, Azrael the man that had saved Keth from ruination after everything and everyone had given up on Keth all those years ago, had been expelled from the NAWC by his blood enemy Xaphan of The Unholy. Keth and Kenmore were also on the losing end of their war with Primal Fear and Keth seemed to be losing everything once more. Unable to cope Keth lashed out at anything including ringside fans holding up signs he didn't like as well as turning on his teammate Jason Kenmore who he thought had planted dozens of his old Gravedigger masks from the ceiling in his dressing room. Then Johnny B and the Stargazers came out and told the galaxy that they were responsible for Keth's breaking and they were here to finish the job they started 5 years ago. Keth at this news went into solitude trying to figure out what to do next. First he went back to The Inquisition trying regaining their trust but because he could not forgive himself for his past and present misdeeds he was told he would not be allowed back until such time as he could prove himself worthy. Keth then went after the Stargazers but he was outnumbered 4-1 and was beat down badly. He then went out and found 3 men to join him in his battles, 2 of which grew up with Keth when they were kids. He has also been seen talking to 2 VKW wrestlers, what this means is unknown. For now Keth The Mook, Dillon and Brock Mason look to shake things up.

Blood Rose

6'1" 134lbs

Preplanus, Draco

Special Moves - Dirt Digger (Implant DDT)

FINISHERS - SLEEP OF THE DEAD (sleeper)

A ROSES THORN (Asian Spike nerve hold)

Rose is the valet/manager of NAWC star Bloodstorm. It is unknown what their relationship is but they are always close to each other. Like Bloodstorm she is a vampire. Supposedly over 200 years old she has found a legal craft she is good at and has spent much time training to become the best women's wrestler in the galaxy. Now with a women's division in the NAWC she has a place to showcase her impressive skills. She won the inaugural NAWC Women's Tournament beating Viper Vixson in the finals to be declared the first NAWC Women's Champion. She has also started accompanying Tzimisce the newest member of the Vampire Nation to the ring. Blood Rose has also started feuding with newcomer and valet of Danny Sage, Pandora. There seems to be a deep seated hatred between the two but the two have kept quiet and have instead dealt with the hostility inside the ring.

Tzimisce

6'1" 226lbs

Carpathian Mountains

Special Moves - Decent Into Cruelty (with opponent laying on table Tzimisce jumps off top rope and lands with both feet into stomach of opponent driving him through the table)

Fiendish Spike (DDT off ring apron to arena floor)

FINISHER - BLOOD TITHE (Tzimisce or Blood Rose set up a barbed wire table in the ring and Tzimisce performs a top rope piledriver through the table usually slicing his opponents head badly. Tzimisce will then smear the blood on himself and even lick some of it up, roll Tzimisce's DQ, if DQ'd the ref sees it and disqualifies Tzimisce.)

Tzimisce joins Bloodstorm and Blood Rose as a member of their Vampire Nation. He at times seems to run the group but Bloodstorm remains the focal point for the groups actions. He is very cruel inside and outside the ring and loves making his opponents bleed so he can taste their blood without actually feeding on them. He comes from Eastern Europe and has a haven somewhere in the Carpathian Mountains where he grew up in isolation. It is believed he is the incarnation of many vampire tales in the region but nothing has been proven and no one that has ever investigated has ever come back to report their findings. He does nothing to recant the claims and even plays up on others fears but he always says this is just an act....or is it!

Tera Naught

5'11" 300lbs

Kelins, Alaara

Special Moves - Tera Lariat (jumping clothesline)

Jacked Bomb (hi-angle powerbomb)

Tera Press (cross body press)

Super Jacked Bomb (top rope hi-angle powerbomb)

FINISHER - TERROR DRIVER (top rope piledriver)

Tera Naught has been brought in to help Ciber Naught and Assassin X in their new war with Belroc, Sekada and the traitor Hangman. Tera comes from the same warrior class as Ciber Naught. Tera Naught is a loyal no no-sense type of soldier who was an elite member of the Kelins military that was once run by Ciber Naught. He is totally loyal to Ciber Naught because of their long military careers together. After Alaara united under one government Tera Naught's unit was disbanded and like Ciber Naught, Assassin X and the Hangman trained to become wrestlers. Tera Naught is a power based wrestler that enjoys dishing out punishment to his foes. He has been known to lose control of his temper at times as well, so it is not wise to get on his bad side. He will not except failure or defeat. He won't give up until he has won or beaten his opponent. He will do what ever is necessary to be victorious over his opponents and does not mind if it's legal or not! A "Win is a Win" so he often says. Tera Naught also likes to team up with his other military brother Assassin X on occasion.

Special Edition Cards

All-American Chad Hillsman (American Pride)

6'2" 207lbs

Washington, D.C.

All-Star Ron Grayson (American Pride)

5' 11" 239 lbs

Ithaca, New York

Special Move - Hillsmanline (jumping clothesline ala Steinerline)

FINISHERS - STARS AND BARS (Samoan Drop)

THE GLORY ROCKET (tag)(with partner standing on top rope Hillsman tosses partner on opponent ala Rocket Launcher)

Chad - hates anything that is not American, including wrestlers. He is the ultimate Ultra-Nationalist, and doesn't mind letting people know it. Likes hitting opponents hard and fast to make up for the teams lack of size. Definitely the ring general for the team.

Ron Grayson - is one of the most exciting, dynamic flyers in the world though he has bulked up as of late so his moves have more punch to them, he can also be as dumb as a post. Opponents try to make fun of Ron, but Ron laughs with them not realizing they're laughing at him not with him. Follows Chad's instructions without fail and is extremely loyal to him.
